

I strongly oppose efforts to prevent satellite radio companies such as XM radio from offering traffic and weather. This is an important service to XM radio listeners. Further, it is a service that it not being providing adequately by other broadcasters. Those broadcasters, who have chosen to provide inferior service, are not now in a position to complain. Let the market do its job. Customers will choose the best service at the best price. Right now, we choose XM.